MULTAN: Punjab Literacy and Non-Formal Basic Education (LNFBE) Department Secretary Dr Pervez Ahmed Khan said that strict disciplinary action will be taken against field staff members who fail to achieve targets regarding 100 per cent literacy. He was inspecting different Literacy Centres in Southern Punjab here the other day. He stressed upon Literacy Mobilisers and other teaching staff that they should introduce the most backward and poorest class of the society with the utility and importance of education so that the children of the poor become eligible to perform their role in the development of national economy.

"The importance of non-formal education as an alternative learning mechanism has increased over the past few years," said the LNFBE Secretary. This realisation, he said, could be gauged through the government's recent allocation for the non-formal education sector. He said that according to Article 25-A of Constitution of Pakistan, "Education is the basic of every citizen and Literacy & NFBE Department will cross all the limits for educating the poor learners as per the vision of the Punjab CM."

LAHORE: Pakistan needs to curb terrorism and promote education for its economic development, said British politicians of Pakistani origin while addressing the youth at the Government College University (GCU), Lahore. GCU Vice Chancellor Prof Dr Muhammad Khaleequr Rahman was also present.

"Terrorism has nothing to do with Islam. Terrorists are not serving it or Pakistan; rather their acts hurt the image of our religion and the country," said Lord Mayor of Manchester Naeemul Hassan. He laid a particular stress on the participation of underprivileged people in politics, saying that political parties should provide equal opportunity to them. "In Britain, political parties finance election campaign of their candidates, which allows the people belonging to the lower and middle classes, like himself, to participate in politics," said the British lord mayor, adding that Britain had very strict laws of spending in elections, as only 1,200 pounds were allowed to be spent in the election campaign in his constituency.

Naeemul Hassan said there were many millionaires in Pakistan, and they should contribute towards promotion of education in the country. "It's their country and they should realise that they have a responsibility towards it," he added. He told the students how he began his professional life as a factory worker, before returning to further his education. He said he was proud of his diverse working background in many different vocations including driving taxis, security, hospitality management and a community liaison officer. He told youth about his keen interest in justice, which led him to be a magistrate on the Manchester Bench.

Speaking on the occasion, former lord mayor of Manchester and candidate for the European Parliament Mohammed Afzal Khan said that Pakistan had a quality human resource, and the government here needed to create an economic ecosystem, in which this resource could be utilised and brain drain from Pakistan could be stopped. In reply to a question about role of dual nationals in politics, the British politician said there was nothing illegal about it, and even many dual nationals had made very positive contributions to politics. In reply to another question, he said there was racism in every country of the world, but in Britain it was very limited. He cited his own example, saying that he, despite being from a minority community, had been elected the lord mayor of Manchester and now he was a Labour Party's candidate for the 2014 European Parliament elections. Afzal Khan hoped that he would soon be a member of the European Parliament and also support Pakistan from there, besides severing his country, the UK. "A man's identity has different layers, and one layer of my identity is that I am a Pakistani and love my people," he added. He also called on the Pakistani media to play an active role in portraying a positive image of the country at the international level.

Speaking on the occasion, Prof Dr Khaleequr Rahman said that students' interaction with the best individuals of the world was a vital part of academics at the GCU. He said that the students not only get motivated by the hard work and success stories of these individuals, but also receive updated knowledge and information about various national and international issues. He also paid tribute to Naeemul Hassan and Afzal Khan for their special love and concern for Pakistan, despite being settled in Britain. Later, Naeemul Hassan and Afzal Khan visited different departments of the university.

Convocation 2014 was held at Pakistan Institute of Engineering and Applied Sciences (PIEAS), the number 1 ranked Engineering Institution of the country, on 25 February 2014. Federal Minister for Planning, Development and Reforms, Professor Ahsan Iqbal was the Chief Guest on this occasion. Degrees were conferred to 300 PhD, MS, MPhil and BS graduates. The post-graduates degrees were awarded in the disciplines of Nuclear Engineering, Systems Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Materials Engineering, Process Engineering, Nuclear Medicine, Radiation & Medical Oncology, Medical Physics, and Physics. The BS degrees were awarded in the field of Computer & Information Sciences. Gold medals and merit certificates were distributed to the graduates securing top honours in each discipline.

Speaking in this august ceremony, Ahsan Iqbal lauded the research output and quality education of PIEAS. He emphasized the importance of applied research over blue sky research for the countries like Pakistan. He said the world has identified the key areas of development in the fields of IT & Telecom, robotics, man-made materials, biotechnology, chemical processing, and sustainable energy. By adopting modern techniques in research, universities can play a major role to develop a modern society. Prof. Ahsan said that government's top priority is to overcome energy crisis in the country and the government is also focusing to utilize nuclear energy to alleviate loadshedding. He said that Coastal power plant would add 2200 MW additional electricity in our National power system which has already been inaugurated by the Prime Minister. He also stressed Scholars and Scientists to devote their energy and talent in that area which will have maximum impact to achieve millennium development goals. Giving comparisons, the federal minister said that Pakistan's power sector installed capacity stood at 21,000MW from 1947 to date, but now the Chinese government had showed its confidence on our government by agreeing to assist Islamabad for installation of adding 23,000MW in the next five to seven years.

In his welcome address, Chairman PAEC, Dr. Ansar Parvez, himself a PIEAS graduate, thanked the Federal Minister and briefed the audience about the culture of merit in PAEC and the importance that it attributes to HRD. PIEAS has become a supplier of quality man-power to all the strategic commissions of the country including PAEC, NESCOM, KRL, and PNRA. He advised the graduating class to concentrate on the frontiers of knowledge and master the cutting edge technologies. Earlier on, Rector PIEAS, Dr. Muhammad Aslam told the audience that PIEAS acquired degree awarding status in year 2000 and within a short period of six years it was ranked as No.1 Engineering Institution of Pakistan by the Higher Education Commission (HEC). He praised his faculty as PIEAS consistently retained this prestigious position in the subsequent HEC rankings held in 2010 and 2013. Sixty-seven PIEAS graduates have been decorated with national civil awards for their outstanding contributions to national technical developments.

JOHI: In neat rows, the girls in white headscarves listened carefully as the teacher described the changes in their bodies. When the teacher asked what they should do if a stranger touched them, the class erupted. "Scream!" one called out. "Bite!" another suggested. "Scratch really hard with your nails!" a third said. Sex education is common in Western schools but these ground-breaking lessons are taking place in Pakistan. Publicly talking about sex in Pakistan is taboo and can even be a death sentence. Almost nowhere in Pakistan offers any kind of organised sex education. In some places it has been banned. But teachers operating in the village of Johi in poverty-stricken Sindh province say most families there support their sex education project. Around 700 girls are enrolled in eight local schools run by the Village Shadabad Organisation. Their sex education lessons — starting at age eight — cover changes in their bodies, what their rights are and how to protect themselves. "We cannot close our eyes," said Akbar Lashari, head of the organisation. "It's a topic people don't want to talk about but it's fact of our life."

Facts of life: Lashari said most of the girls in the villages used to hit puberty without realising they will begin to menstruate or they got married without understanding the mechanics of sex. The lessons even teach the girls about marital rape — a revolutionary idea in Pakistan, where forcing a spouse to have sex is not a crime. "We tell them their husband can't have sex with them if they are not willing," Lashari said. The lessons are an addition to regular classes and parents are told before they enroll their daughters. None has objected and the school has faced no opposition, Lashari said. The eight schools received sponsorship from BHP Billiton, an Australian company that operates a nearby gas plant, but Lashari says sex education was the villagers' own idea. Teacher Sarah Baloch, whose yellow shalwar kameez brightens up the dusty school yard, said she hoped to help girls understand what growing up meant. "When girls start menstruating they think it is shameful and don't tell their parents and think they have fallen sick," she said. Baloch teaches at a tiny school of three brick classrooms. A fourth class is held outside because there are so many girls. Three girls cram into each seat made for two, listening attentively to Baloch. One flashcard shows a girl stopping an old man from touching her leg. Other cards encourage girls to tell their parents or friends if someone is stalking them. The girls are shy but the lessons have sunk in. "My body is only mine and only I have the rights on it. If someone touches my private parts I'll bite or slap him in the face," said 10-year-old Uzma Panhwar defiantly as she blushed. The lessons also cover marriage. "Our teacher has told us everything that we'll have to do when we get married. Now we've learned what we should do and what not," said Sajida Baloch, 16, staring at the ground.

Ahead of its time?: Some of Pakistan's most prominent schools, including the prestigious Beaconhouse School System, have been considering the type of sex education practised in Johi. "Girls feel shy to talk to their parents about sex," said Roohi Haq, director of studies at Beaconhouse. There is definitely demand. Lahore-based Arshad Javed has written three books on sex education and said he sells about 7,000 per year. None are sold to schools. But not everyone agrees with the lessons, partly because young people were not supposed to have sex before adulthood. Recently the government forced a private school to remove all sex education from its curriculum. "It is against our constitution and religion," said Mirza Kashif Ali, president of the All Pakistan Private Schools Federation, which says it represents more than 152,000 institutions across the country. "What's the point of knowing about a thing you're not supposed to do? It should not be allowed at school level." In neighbouring India, many government schools formally offer sex education but Pakistani government schools have no such plans. Nisar Ahmed Khuhro, the education minister for Sindh province, was shocked to hear of the lessons. "Sex education for girls? How can they do that? That is not part of our curriculum, whether public or private," he said. But Tahir Ashrafi, who heads an alliance of moderate clerics called the Pakistan Ulema Council, said such lessons were permissible under Islamic law as long as they were segregated and confined to theory. "If the teachers are female, they can give such information to girls in the limits of Sharia," he said.

Prioritise education: 'Liberal funding, technical training can boost literacy rate'

Express Tribune 2^{3rd} Feb, 2014

KARACHI: To bring a socio-economic revolution in Pakistan, drastic changes in the educational system are needed, such as liberal funding, curriculum development and technical trainings. Senior educationalist and Sindh Professors and Lecturers Association leader Prof Iftikhar Azmi said that if the government wanted to make Pakistan a literate country, it should spend more than five per cent of its GDP on education in the next 10 years. Azmi regretted that the limited funds are mostly spent on non-development activities. Prof. Azmi said changes in the curriculum are necessary to economically empower the youth and this objective could be achieved by giving priority to technical education. FAISALABAD: "Government spending on education accounts for only 1.9 per cent of Pakistan's gross domestic product (GDP)," Higher Education Commission of Pakistan (HEC) former chairman Attaur Rehman said on 18th Feb, 2014.

Addressing the University of Agriculture, Faisalabad (UAF) faculty at the New Senate Hall, he said Pakistan was among countries where governments spend the least on education. Rehman said the government had announced plans to allocate 5 per cent of the budget on education. He said the move would bring positive results in terms of poverty alleviation and achieving prosperity. Citing examples of Malaysia and China, he said quality education led to socio-education development. "India will have as many as 200 new universities over the next five years," he said. He said higher education was an indicator which could be used to measure a country's development plans, its uplift policies and its doctrine of growth. Rehman said excellence in sciences was the need of hour to be competitive in the world. He said massive online open courses (MOOC) were gaining popularity as they provided students an opportunity to interact with world renowned scholars over the internet. Rehman said modern agricultural practices need to be adopted to ensure food security. "It is important to make sea water usable for agriculture," he said.

UAF Vice Chancellor Iqbal Ahmad Khan said the UAF was taking all possible steps to impart quality education. "The UAF is among the top 100 world universities for agricultural sciences, according to rankings by the National Taiwan University (NTU)," he said. Khan said that the university's research portfolio had crossed Rs2 billion compared to Rs300 million five years ago. He thanked Attaur Rehman for visiting the UAF and delivering a lecture.

ISLAMABAD: France is committed to strengthening bilateral relations with Pakistan by supporting business linkages, higher education opportunities and hydropower projects in the country, according to Philippe Thiebaud, the Ambassador of France.

Speaking to The Express Tribune in an exclusive interview, Thiebaud outlined the important areas of cooperation and highlighted avenues of future collaboration between the two countries. The ambassador, who took up his assignment in December 2011, said the French embassy was trying to enhance interaction between the business communities in the two countries.

Business linkages: "We are planning to organise in May, quite likely, a visit of a large Pakistani business delegation to France to meet the French business council people," Thiebaud said. The visit is coming less than six months after the European Union (EU) awarded Pakistan its Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) Plus status which allows Pakistani products a duty-free access to the European market. Thiebaud said the European Parliament awarded Pakistan the status because it was "convinced" this will help to "stabilize the democratic process in the country" after a historic democratic transition of civilian governments in May 2013.

According to various estimates, the status can help generate exports between $700 million to $1.5 billion. It might also prove to be a positive framework that brings certainty and stability in business relationships between Pakistani exporters and European companies, the Ambassador said. "The GSP Plus status will really help business community on both sides, in Pakistan and in the European countries, to establish a long-term and stable relationship," he said. Thiebaud said GSP Plus is "not a miracle solution" for Pakistan, given the infrastructural and technological bottlenecks in Pakistan's industrial processes. However, he said it was a "significant access" that is likely to help the "dynamic business community in Pakistan." "Obviously governments can be helpful with the framework but it is business-to-business [relationships that matter]," Thiebaud said. "It is very important on both sides for business communities to have direct interactions, direct exchange of views, to prepare the ground for more investments and more exports from Pakistan." The tentatively planned visit of the Pakistani business people to France is one such attempt to boost direct business linkages and improve bilateral trade, which is already flourishing. The bilateral trade volume between the two countries is around $1.3-1.4 billion per year, with Pakistan having an average trade surplus of around $150 million, the Ambassador said. Around 80 per cent of Pakistani exports to France consist of textiles, garments and leather goods, according to the Ambassador. "These exports have increased over the past years, by 12 per cent in one year, 20 per cent the other year," Thiebaud said. "We are quite convinced the GSP plus status will reinforce this positive trend of development."

Energy: In the energy sector, France is supporting hydropower projects for electricity generation since hydropower is consistent with the French emphasis on green and sustainable development. "We are now supporting, developing or financing several (hydropower) projects in Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa, where we are working with the Pakistani government," Thiebaud. "We are also interested in developing cooperation in green technologies and renewable energy."

Education and gender: Higher education remains a priority for France, the ambassador said. "We have put a lot of emphasis over the past years in cooperation between universities, research centres and also in developing education cooperation at the higher level," Thiebaud said. France has entered into an agreement with the Higher Education Commission (HEC) for sending Pakistani students to the European countries for master's and PhD programmes. Another programme, running for the second year now in collaboration with the HEC, gives need-based scholarships each year to as many as 200 students from less developed areas to study at some of the best Pakistani universities, the Ambassador said. "We also emphasize gender balance," he said. "Not exactly half but at least 40 per cent of the students benefitting from these scholarships are women." French researchers are also collaborating with Pakistani institutions on academic and scientific projects. A series of seminars and workshops in Islamabad and Karachi during the first week of February saw French academics delivering talks on their work in Pakistan in fields of archaeology, paleontology and social sciences. The envoy said France and other European countries share the Pakistani government's objectives of getting rid of terrorism and bringing peace and stability in the country as well as in the region. "Now it is up to the Pakistani government to make some choices as to its tactics to get these objectives," he said. "We do not have to interfere with the ways the government decides to achieve the objectives."

government were also present on the occasion. It is mentioned here that under this project, the USAID Sindh Basic Education Program supports the Government of Sindh's goal to increase and sustain student enrollment in primary, middle, and secondary schools in seven targetted districts of northern Sindh and five selected towns / areas of Karachi. The program aims to create school environments conducive to teaching and learning. The program funded the construction and rehabilitation of government schools affected by 2010 floods and supports the Government of Sindh's policy of merging, consolidating, and upgrading schools through new construction.

KARACHI: Ambassador of Denmark to Pakistan, Jesper Moller Sorensen here on Monday, highlighting the importance of education in building of a nation, suggested that Pakistan Government should increase its budget for education as this shall be the best future investment. In his dialogue at Pakistan Institute of International Affairs (PIIA) about Denmark's engagement in Pakistan and Denmark's view on the developments within the European Union, the Ambassador said his country has been supporting Pakistan in promoting quality education especially in 'conflict-hit' areas of Federally Administered Tribal Areas (FATA), Khyber Pakhtoonkhwa and Balochistan. Hundreds of schools have been rehabilitated there. Being a small economy, Denmark had very limited engagements in Pakistan. However, over last couple of years these have been increased. In 2010, Denmark came up with Financial Assistance Programme for Pakistan with focus on education.

Denmark is supporting civil society organisations here. The Youth Parliament here was given financial aid of dollars 3.5 million. Pakistan has a large youth force and this is the real driver of change in a country. "It is important for me to have direct contact with new generation," he said adding that Denmark Embassy in Islamabad ranks second among his country's missions throughout the world which uses more face-book facility to have maximum contact with the civil society here.

To a query, he said: "True picture for Pakistan is, here are certain issues including security which concern us. Our companies also do question about poor security situation. However, Pakistan is land of potential economic opportunities. We are encouraging our companies to come here." He informed that the bilateral trade has witnessed increase in last couple of years. Last year, Denmark's exports to Pakistan were dollars 326 million. The services sector has major portion in these exports. Whereas, Pakistan's exports amounted to dollars 269 million. He said: "most importantly, we are now focussing on promotion of trade between our countries. We believe Pakistan should - in the long run - live by its own resources. That is also the reason why Denmark was a strong supporter of GSP plus status for Pakistan." "Expanding our economic ties is closely linked to our development goals. This will provide opportunities for every citizen, help in economic growth and ultimately assist in poverty reduction," he added. He said there is a great potential of trade and investment between Denmark and Pakistan especially for joint ventures. He said Denmark can also help Pakistan in wind-mill energy sector. He noted it positive that there is future of energy mix in Pakistan. It has huge potential of wind-mill energy. Only Sindh corridor has more than 5,000 MW potential, he said. He said Denmark is focusing on setting up off-shore wind-mill facilities. Danish companies are good in wind-mill energy sector; not only in generation but also efficient use of energy. Pakistan can benefit from their expertise, he said. "54 % of our energy comes from wind-mill during the month of December," he said. Danish Ambassador said that his country was engaged in public diplomacy here at different level of the society including media-to-media contact. In 2015, his country will arrange cultural programs in Pakistan to promote people-to-people contact. He said 25,000 Pakistanis are living in Denmark which has only 5.6 million population and is spread over 450 small islands. These Pakistanis have been actively participating in the social and economic sectors there. Besides significant presence at the local governments level, one Danish of Pakistani origin is the member of Denmark parliament. He spoke of Denmark's welfare system. It is mainly based on better taxation system and free education up to higher education. "It is difficult to be rich in Denmark but it is very difficult to be very poor there," he remarked. He said Denmark's policy of becoming a member of European Union is based on, how much EU can support Danish people for their social and economic change. He said that there are visible signs that Europe was coming out of crisis. EU comprises 28 different countries. Over last couple of years, EU has managed to make some very difficult and important reforms, he said. The Danish Ambassador said his country strongly believed in free trade and that is why, it supports free trade agreements. We also strongly supported Pakistan in getting GSP-plus status in European Union; providing duty free access for Pakistani goods to EU markets.

Malaysian education through the right channel. Talking to the media, he also pointed out the high standards, commitment and satisfaction Malaysian high education institutes have ensured in the last decade for international students. "Malaysia is serious and committed to the cause of education and programmes on offer in our universities and higher institutions of learning to meet international standards, which is why we have over 97,000 foreign students presently studying in the country." According to him, the target is to reach 100,000 foreign students base soon.

North Pole International Managing Director Babar Bashir explained that Malaysia has emerged as one of the main education markets in Pakistan due to several advantages and this is evident from the fact that over 3,000 Pakistanis have chosen Malaysia as study destination in the last three to four years. He described affordable tuition fee and cost of living as major factors behind the "rise of Malaysian education" in Pakistan.

"Malaysia has become a preferred destination for students from around the world due to number of factors including affordable tuition, immigration laws, quality options, degrees awarded in collaboration with partner universities in UK, Australia, USA, etc... diverse cultures and hospitable Malaysian people." He said average yearly tuition fee in Malaysia is $6,000 compared to $22,000 and $14,000 in the US and UK, respectively while student's average yearly cost of living in Malaysia is $40,00 against $13,000 and $15,000 in the US and UK at average and still students get same British or Australian degree while studying in Malaysia.

The exhibition will next move to Islamabad where the event is planned at Islamabad Hotel on February 18 before concluding at Avari Hotel, Lahore with another two-day event on February 20 and 21. Foreign students aspiring for quality and affordable international degrees now look to Asian countries and Malaysia is fast becoming a higher education hub in Asia. Malaysia ranks 8th worldwide as a preferred destination for international students by the United Nation Education Science and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO). The high standard and excellent facilities Malaysian universities provide have been key to attracting many foreign students.

Heritage sites to be used as venue to educate young generation

Daily Times 10th Feb, 2014

ISLAMABAD: United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), plans to use the World Heritage Sites of Pakistan as venue for educating young generation and teaching them about this long human history. "These sites are wonderful venue for school visits and teaching the youngsters about history of different cultures and this is what UNESCO says about world heritage," said Irina Bokova, Director General UNESCO during her recent visit to Taxila. The people of Pakistan should feel proud particularly the local people to have such unique and interesting sites, they have to continue protecting and preserving their heritage and also continue with the archaeological findings, she said in an interview with APP.

In a message to people of Pakistan, Ms Bokova said, this is the side that shows the influences. There is no unique culture in the world and even there is no culture that is isolated. There exists a message about respect, dialogue and passing it on to the next generations. "It is very important to preserve the authenticity and we want to use our sites as venues to teach our young generation. Pakistan has extraordinary heritage inscribed on UNESCO's list which is all about contribution of different civilizations". "The uniqueness of the Taxila site is in different layers of cultures and civilizations as we see the influences of Buddhism, Hinduism and Greek culture also, every thing in a perspective, I believe this is so much needed today to talk about dialogue among cultures about the contribution of all these different civilizations that are here," she expressed her thoughts about the World Heritage Site of Taxila. "I am impressed by the diligent attitude of Pakistani people and authorities towards preservation of Gandhara culture and such interesting and unique sites. I have seen exposition of Gandhara culture in Paris, when it came there and visited five years ago and exposed this one of the important museum but here I have seen much more and one feels happy to be here," Ms Bokova remarked. About UNESCO's plans for promotion and protection of these sites, she said there is no culture which is isolated and it is important to preserve the authenticity of any culture. For this reason, she said, We want to preserve the archaeological sites to educate the young generation about the historical value of this region through dialogue on culture. Taxila, one of the six World Heritage sites of Pakistan, is inscribed on the World Heritage List in 1980 that comprises a vast complex of archaeological heritage, the site includes a Mesolithic cave, 4 settlement sites, a number of Buddhist monasteries of various periods and Muslim Mosques of the medieval period as well as presence of the Buddhist Stupa and monasteries at Taxila from 1st to 5th Century.

UNESCO to spend $7m for girls education in Pakistan

Pakistan Observer 7th Feb, 2014

A.D. To redress the issue of growing wild vegetation (bio-deterioration) at the sites of Sirkup and Sirsukh, Bhirmound, Dharmarajika and Giri causing deterioration to the structure, UNESCO Islamabad is working closely with the Department of Archaeology Punjab and Comsats Institute of Information Technology (CIIT) through capacity building and awareness raising of the staff on conservation methods against bio-deterioration for the protection of the sites. The Museum carries the reflections connected to the chronology of Taxila, life of Gautam Buddha, glimpses of the artifacts, Buddha sculptures and historical belongings of the Buddhists made up of lead, silver and gold that date back to 3rd Century B.C.

UNESCO would spend US$ seven million to expand access to education, improve quality and make educational environments safe for children, especially girls in the remote and backward regions of the country during the next five years. This was revealed by Director General, UNESCO Ms Irina Bokova in a joint press briefing with State Minister for Education, Training and Standards in Higher Education held here Thursday.

UNESCO would provide this amount under Malala Fund for Girls' right for expanding access for girls to primary and secondary education, increasing employment of female teachers in girls schools, training teachers, activating Parent-Teachers Associations, community awareness programmes and gender responsive budgeting and resource allocations, she said. The provision of missing facilities and equipping students and teachers with peace education and conflict management resolution would also be covered under the programme. She emphasized on investing in girls education and said "educating the masses is the best way of achieving economic success, justice and equity". Irina Bokova said the country comprises over sixty percent population of youth which is a huge asset and giving them education can help revitalize the whole economy.

Speaking on the occasion, Baligh-ur-Rehman reiterated the government's pledge to increase the spending on education from two percent of GDP upto four gradually. He said investment in education is prerequisite for peace in the country and if there is no peace, poverty will intensify. He said the government has formulated a Plan of Action for education and this is high time to implement that plan and enrol more children to the schools. The minister said many girls are deprived of their fundamental right to education and there is need to educate and convince their families and communities about importance of education. The Plan of Action, he said, has targeted ending gender disparity from 10 percent to five percent. The agreement to provide US$ seven million was signed, in a meeting held earlier, by the Irina Bokova and Muhammad Baligh-ur-Rehman. The meeting was attended by senior officials of the ministry and UNESCO.

The activities under the programme will be implemented by UNESCO in close coordination and collaboration with the Ministry of Education, Trainings and Standards in Higher Education and the Provincial departments. A steering committee comprising the representatives of the government and UNESCO will monitor and coordinate the overall implementation of the programme.—APP

 Pakistan District Education Rankings 2013

It's useless to study in the US, stay in Pakistan!

Haider Rifaat
 Express Tribune
 February 23rd, 2014

The education system in the US is, undoubtedly, no match to that of Pakistan. There is a major difference in the quality of education between the two nations.

Youngsters living in Pakistan are encouraged to pursue their studies from abroad as the standard of education in Pakistan is awfully low. There are, however, quite a few individuals who believe that receiving education from a country such as the US is of no use.

This is a common misconception, possibly stemming from the anti-US sentiment in the country. I, however, do not agree as I believe that there are a number of factors that make the US education system superior to that of Pakistan's. Sadly, a foreign degree in Pakistan holds more value than that of a local degree, but that is not the only reason to pursue a degree from the US. Various institutions and universities in the US not only encompass various forms of study but lay emphasis on an array of extracurricular activities, including performing arts and sports. Such activities aid in building a student's character.

Recently, I interviewed some young individuals from Balochistan and Sindh, and raised a few questions pertaining to the education systems of the two countries. Half of them believed that getting an education from abroad, especially the US, is meaningless, whereas a few of them considered foreign education a primary choice.

Ahmed Bilal, a student from Balochistan, believes that receiving education from a country such as the US is futile. He said,

"Why should I go abroad for studying, especially to a country like the US, when I can receive similar education from Pakistan? Besides, I have a motive in life and that is to serve my nation."

The rage I saw in his eyes for the US left me speechless for a while. Although I do not disagree with the fact that a degree from a university in Pakistan would be as prestigious, we cannot deny the holistic approach taken by educationists in the US; the experience and growth in a system in the US is regrettably denied to students in Pakistan. Receiving a degree from the US is a privilege and only few people are able to utilise such opportunities. Perhaps our youngsters should opt more for foreign education to understand how the education system works in other countries, specifically in the US.

Maria Imtiaz, a senior student from Sindh, had contrary opinions to those of Bilal's.

"I personally believe that receiving education from overseas is an honour. I, myself, would love to go abroad to study and learn more from the people who surround me."

Maria believes that getting an education from a foreign country is an opportunity that only a few are able to make use of.

I completely agree with her views.

Ejaz Mujtaba, a school student from Baluchistan, also had favourable views on western education.

"I love the US! I would definitely go there in the future to continue my studies. Sadly, there are many children who are willing to read and write in some parts of Pakistan but are held back by their families for some odd reason."

I am in complete agreement with Mujtaba's vital point about children who are thwarted from getting good quality education. Unfortunately, this holds true in most rural areas of Pakistan. Whether it is fear of the unknown or just an anti-US sentiment, holding the child back from achieving the best is unfair.

Lastly, I interviewed Ammar Hassan, a college student from Sindh. He said,

"I am going to stay here and study in my home country and serve my nation. I find no point in going abroad to study, especially the US."

I was appalled by Hassan's bitter views on western education. I was unable to comprehend why he or Bilal opposed the education system of the west. Leaving to study abroad does not in any way mean that their patriotism or nationalism is being challenged. They will not be stopped from coming back and serving their own nation. What they will acquire are skills that they may not have achieved here.

I, myself, was born and raised in Fairfax, Virginia and noticed a major difference between the education systems of the two countries. Receiving higher education from abroad is a benefit, not a loss.

The fact that we have such a rigid mindset, are not flexible towards change and stick to degrees that are common in Pakistan are some of the reasons Pakistan is not progressing in today's world. There is nothing wrong in learning something from a nation doing better. The fact that we have an opportunity to do so, in itself, is a big deal and we should grab it with both hands and take as much advantage of it as possible. We will only progress when we learn to get out of our comfort zone and face the world.

The reason the US is a global superpower is because it provides excellent quality education and rights to its citizens. The idea to learn from the US is because I believe Pakistan can do much better; I wish Pakistan could be a nation superior to any other country in the world. Sadly, I cannot see that happening.

What matters more: Education or Cricket?

By: Murtaza Haider

DAWN News 12th February 2014

There are more than five million reasons for Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif and Najam Sethi to ignore cricket and focus on the ubiquitous illiteracy in Pakistan.

UNESCO's latest report on Education for All labels Pakistanis as one of the most illiterate people on the planet. With 5.5 million school-aged children not in school and child malnutrition being a chronic problem, Pakistan's development statistics resemble those of the starving nations in Africa. And whereas African countries are fast improving the welfare of their citizens and the state of their economies, the opposite is true for Pakistan.

The elite and the middle classes in Pakistan are aware of the sorry state of affairs in the country. But do they care? An army of illiterate youth is being raised in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa alone. Millions of malnourished children are struggling with hunger in Sindh. Thousands of Balochs are displaced and their children lack access to education. The elite in Pakistan are, however, focused on cricket. It doesn't matter how educated or empowered one is, apathy runs deep in the society.

UNESCO's Education for All Global Monitoring Report (Teaching and Learning: Achieving Quality for All) was released recently. The report makes dozens of embarrassing references to Pakistan, highlighting the nation's failures in educating its children. Even the future does not look promising. Of the 12 countries least likely to meet the threshold for primary education by 2015, 10 are in sub-Saharan Africa. Pakistan and Djibouti are the other two states most likely to fail the primary education test. But this is not all. Pakistan is doing precious little to address this. The gaps in primary education remain. In fact, the UNESCO report points out that of the 10 countries that face the most severe shortage of primary school teachers, all except Pakistan are in sub-Saharan Africa.

What matters more: Education or Cricket?

With the Prime Minister, superior courts, news media, and public intellectuals fixated on sports, no wonder education fails to be a priority in Pakistan, which accounts for 10 per cent of the global population of out of school children. Pakistan spent 2.3 per cent of its GNP on education in 2010, less than 2.6 per cent of GNP in 1999. In comparison, the military spending consumes 3 per cent of Pakistan's GDP. Who in Pakistan decides to spend more on military and less on education?

It's not just spending, but smart spending that matters. Historically, education investments have mainly focused on brick and mortar. The chronic shortage of primary school teachers is an example of misspending in education. As for the education spending on non-salary items is concerned, the situation is even worse. A study of recurring budgets in five districts revealed that a mere 5 per cent of the recurring budget was spent on non-salary items.

For decades, Pakistan has relied on charity from tax payers in North America and Europe to pay for the education of its children. Unlike cricket and nuclear bombs, Pakistanis cannot be engaged in issues that really matter to them. With 768,000 Pakistanis paying income tax, the tax to GDP ratio in Pakistan is approximated at 10 per cent. The UNESCO report recommends that Pakistan should consider eliminating tax exemptions to raise the tax revenue. The report highlights the fact that while the agriculture sector accounts for 22 per cent of Pakistan's economy, it generates only 1.2 per cent of the tax revenue.

The UNESCO report suggests that if tax revenue is increased from being 10 per cent of the GDP to 14 per cent by 2015, and that 20 per cent of the budget is spent on education, Pakistan can raise sufficient funds to teach its own children and adolescents. But wait a second. Why should that be a priority in a country where the government, economic planners, and the civil society have been hooked on large sums of foreign aid, most of it supplied by the country Pakistanis love to hate, but never say no to aid dollars

Pakistan should not rely on the United States and others to educate its children. And given that the US is increasingly becoming disinterested in the region, it is less likely to doll out large amounts in development aid. The report highlights that of the decline in the American "total aid to basic education between 2010 and 2011, 94 per cent is accounted for by large falls in its spending in Afghanistan, Iraq and Pakistan."

It is sad to see that the global population of illiterates is concentrated in South Asia and China. Only 10 countries account for 72 per cent of the global illiterate adults. India, China, Pakistan, and Bangladesh respectively have the highest illiterate populations in the world. If there is one reason for regional collaboration, illiteracy is the one. Why can't the governments in the four neighbouring countries come up with a joint strategy to deal with the shared challenge?

The difference between rich and poor, Balochistan and Punjab

The curriculum and the quality of education differs between the rich and poor in Pakistan. Standard testing has revealed that for profit, private schools are in fact providing better education in Pakistan than the State-operated schools, which charge significantly less than the private schools. But even the private schools are not meeting the expected quality standards. According to analysis by the Annual State of Education Report team in Pakistan, "Thirty-six per cent of grade 5 students in private schools could not read a sentence in English, which they should have been able to do by grade 2." Literacy in regional languages was no better. Ninety-plus per cent of children tested in their native Pushto could not read a sentence in Grade 2.

کراچی (اسٹاف رپورٹر) سندھ پروفیسر ذبیحہ بیگم راجہ ایسوسی ایشن نے محکمہ تعلیم میں رشوت ستانی کا اور کالج اساتذہ کے حقوق کی پامالی کے خلاف بدھ کو احتجاجی ریلی نکالنے کا اعلان کیا ہے۔ محکمہ تعلیم میں وسیع پیمانے پر جاری کرپشن کے خلاف یہ ریلی ڈی جے سائنس کالج سے سندھ اسمبلی تک نکالی جائے گی۔ سپلا کراچی کے صدر فیروز الدین صدیقی کے مطابق ریلی سے قبل اجلاس عمومی ہوگا اور پھر اساتذہ سڑکوں پر ہوں گے۔ مرکزی صدر سید علی مرتضیٰ کے مطابق صوبائی محکمہ تعلیم اساتذہ کے مسائل حل کرنے میں سنجیدہ نہیں اور پورا محکمہ کرپشن میں لگا ہوا ہے۔ پروفیسر علی مرتضیٰ نے مزید کہا کہ اس احتجاجی ریلی کا بنیادی مقصد کالج اساتذہ کے حقوق کو پامال ہونے سے بچانا اور محکمہ تعلیم سندھ میں جاری رشوت ستانی اور کرپشن کے نظام کے خاتمے کیلئے صدائے احتجاج بلند کرنا ہے۔ اس ریلی میں سندھ بھر کے کالج اساتذہ بھرپور شرکت کریں گے۔ اجلاس سے سپلا کراچی راجہ ایسوسی ایشن کے صدر پروفیسر فیروز الدین صدیقی، جنرل سیکرٹری پروفیسر عامر الحق اور پروفیسر عزیز اللہ میمن نے بھی خطاب کیا۔

فیڈریشن آف آل پاکستان یونیورسٹیز اکیڈمک اسٹاف ایسوسی ایشن کے رہنماؤں نے یونیورسٹی قانون ترمیمی ایکٹ 2013ء کی تبدیلی کے حوالے سے تاخیر کے خلاف سندھ بھر کی جامعات میں 11 فروری کو تعلیمی سرگرمیاں مکمل طور پر جبکہ اسی روز ملک بھر میں دو گھنٹے تعلیمی سرگرمیاں معطل رکھنے کا اعلان کرتے ہوئے مطالبہ کیا ہے کہ جامعات کے وی سی سی عمر 65 سال، پرووائس چانسلر کی تقرری 3 سینئر پروفیسرز میں سے کی جائے اور سینڈ کیٹ میں صرف جامعہ کے مین کیپس کے پرووائس چانسلر کو شامل کیا جائے۔ یہ بات فیڈریشن کے صوبائی جنرل سیکریٹری پروفیسر احسان مین، عرفانہ ملاح و دیگر نے حیدرآباد پریس کلب میں پریس کانفرنس سے خطاب کرتے ہوئے کہی۔ ان کے ہمراہ سونا کے رہنما ڈاکٹر ظہیر شاہ اور دیگر بھی موجود تھے۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ 18 ویں ترمیم کے بعد صوبائی حکومتوں کو چاہئے تھا کہ فوری طور تعلیم کے مسئلے کو ترجیحی بنیادوں پر رکھ کر یونیورسٹیز ایکٹ میں تبدیلی لائی جاتی لیکن 3 سال گزرنے کے باوجود مذکورہ ایکٹ میں تبدیلی نہیں کی گئی جس کی وجہ سے سندھ میں یونیورسٹیز کے معاملات شدید متاثر ہیں۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ 19 اگست 2013ء کو سندھ اسمبلی کی جانب سے سندھ یونیورسٹیز ترمیمی قانون پاس کیا گیا جس پر 28 اگست کو قائم مقام گورنر آغا سراج د رانی نے دستخط کئے۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ مذکورہ قانون میں جہاں خوبیاں ہیں وہاں چند خامیاں بھی ہیں جن پر اعلیٰ تعلیمی اداروں میں اساتذہ کے تحفظات ہیں جن میں وائس چانسلر کی تعیناتی کیلئے عمر کی حد 65 سال اور پرووائس چانسلر کی تعینات کیلئے مذکورہ یونیورسٹی کے 3 سینئر پروفیسر کے نام بھی شامل اور فیکلٹی کے باہر جانے کے لئے این او سی جاری کرنے کا اختیار متعلقہ وی سی کو دیا جائے سمیت دیگر جائز مطالبات ہیں، ان نکات کو بھی یونیورسٹیز ایکٹ میں شامل کیا جائے۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ 11 فروری کو مذکورہ مطالبات کے حق میں سندھ بھر کی یونیورسٹیز میں ایک دن کیلئے تعلیمی سرگرمیاں جبکہ اسی روز ملک بھر میں 2 گھنٹے کے لئے اساتذہ تعلیمی سرگرمیاں معطل کر کے اپنا احتجاج ریکارڈ کرائیں گے۔

کراچی (اسٹاف رپورٹر) ملک بھر کے تعلیمی بورڈز کے سربراہوں کی کمیٹی آئی بی سی کا دور روزہ اجلاس منگل سے حیدرآباد میں شروع ہو گیا ہے اجلاس میں بورڈز کے امتحانات میں تھرڈ ڈویژن اور ایگریڈ ختم کرنے کے لئے انٹر بورڈ کراچی کے چیئرمین پروفیسر انوار زکی کی سربراہی میں ایک کمیٹی قائم کر دی گئی ہے جو آئندہ اجلاس میں رپورٹ پیش کرے گی۔ کمیٹی کے مطابق ملک کی مختلف جامعات اور اعلیٰ پیشہ ورانہ کالجوں میں تھرڈ صول کرنے والے امیدواروں کو داخلہ نہ دینے کی پالیسی کے پیش نظر آئی بی سی تعلیمی بورڈز میں بھی تھرڈ ڈویژن اور ایگریڈ ختم کر رہی ہے۔ اس سلسلہ میں ثانوی اور اعلیٰ ثانوی تعلیمی بورڈ کوئٹہ کے چیئرمین سعد اللہ خان نے تھرڈ ڈویژن کو ختم کرنے کی تجویز دی تھی۔ یاد رہے کہ ملک بھر کے تعلیمی بورڈز میں کوئٹہ کا واحد بورڈ ہے جہاں ابھی تک میٹرک اور انٹر کے امتحانات میں ڈویژن سسٹم رائج ہے اس لئے وہاں سے تھرڈ ڈویژن کو ختم کرنے کی ضرورت پر زور دیا گیا۔

جوہی: صاف ستھری قطاروں میں پاکستانی لڑکیاں سفید اسکارف پہنے، محتاط ہو کر اپنے ٹیچر کی باتیں سن رہی تھیں، جو انہیں ان کے جسم میں ہونے والی تبدیلیوں کے بارے میں وضاحت کر رہی تھیں۔ جب ٹیچر نے پوچھا کہ اگر ایک اجنبی ان کے جسم کو چھوتا ہے تو وہ اس وقت کیا کریں گی، یہ سن کر کھلا س کی سبھی لڑکیاں بھڑک اٹھیں۔ ایک نے کہا کہ ”اس وقت زور زور سے چلانا چاہیے۔“ دوسری نے تجویز دی کہ ”اس کو دانت کاٹ لینا چاہیے۔“ تیسری نے کہا ”اپنے ناخنوں سے اس کو بڑی طرح نوچ لینا چاہیے۔“ جنسی تعلیم مغربی اسکولوں میں عام ہے لیکن ان روایت شکن اسباق کو اب گہرے قدمت پرست پاکستان میں بھی جگہ مل رہی ہے، اس مسلم ملک کی آبادی اٹھارہ کروڑ لوگوں پر مشتمل ہے۔ پاکستان میں عوامی سطح پر جنس کے بارے میں بات کرنا ممنوع ہے اور یہاں تک کہ اس پر موت کی سزا بھی ہو سکتی ہے۔ والدین محض شادی پر رقص کرنے یا کھڑکی سے باہر دیکھنے جیسے معصومانہ جرائم پر اپنی بیٹیوں کے گلے کاٹ دیتے ہیں یا ان کے چہرے پر تیزاب پھینک دیتے ہیں۔ پاکستان میں کسی بھی جگہ پر کسی قسم کی منظم جنسی تعلیم نہیں دی جاتی ہے۔ کچھ علاقوں میں تو اس پر پابندی عائد ہے۔ لیکن غربت سے متاثرہ صوبہ سندھ کے ایک شہر جوہی کے گاؤں میں کام کرنے والے اساتذہ کا کہنا ہے کہ ان کی جنسی تعلیم کے منصوبے کو بہت سے گھرانوں کی حمایت حاصل ہے۔ بلوچ شاد آباد تنظیم کی جانب سے چلائے جانے والے آٹھ اسکولوں میں سات سو لڑکیاں تعلیم حاصل کر رہی ہیں۔ ان کی جنسی تعلیم کے اسباق آٹھ سال کی عمر سے شروع ہوتے ہیں، جب ان کے جسم میں تبدیلیاں آنے لگتی ہیں، اس وقت ان کو بتایا جاتا ہے کہ ان کے کیا حقوق ہیں اور انہیں اپنی حفاظت کس طرح کرنی چاہیے۔ اس تنظیم کے سربراہ اکبر لاشاری کہتے ہیں ”ہم اپنی آنکھیں بند کر کے نہیں کر سکتے۔ یہ ایسا موضوع ہے، جس پر لوگ بات نہیں کرنا چاہتے، لیکن یہ ہماری زندگی کی حقیقت ہے۔“

زندگی کے حقائق

اکبر لاشاری نے کہا کہ گاؤں کی زیادہ تر لڑکیاں بلوغت کی زندگی میں یہ جانے بغیر داخل ہو جاتی ہیں، کہ ان کے ایام شروع ہو جائیں گے یا ان کو جنسی عمل کے بارے میں سمجھائے بغیر ان کی شادی کر دی جاتی ہے۔ یہ اسباق یہاں تک کہ لڑکیوں کو ازدواجی ریپ کے بارے میں تعلیم دینا، پاکستان میں ایک انقلابی خیال ہے، جہاں پر ایک شریک حیات کا جنسی عمل پر مجبور کیا جانا جرم نہیں ہے۔ اکبر لاشاری نے بتایا ”ہم ان سے کہتے ہیں کہ اگر وہ اس کے لیے تیار نہیں ہیں تو ان کے شوہر انہیں جنسی عمل کے لیے مجبور نہیں کر سکتے۔ انہوں نے کہا یہ اسباق لازمی اسباق کے علاوہ ہیں، اور ان کے بارے میں والدین سے ان کی بیٹیوں کے داخلے سے پہلے بات کر لی جاتی ہے۔ اس پر کسی نے بھی اعتراض نہیں کیا اور اسکول کو کسی طرح کی مخالفت کا سامنا نہیں کرنا پڑا ہے۔ ان آٹھ اسکولوں کو ایک اسٹریٹین کمپنی بی ایچ بی بیٹن کا تعاون حاصل ہے، جو قریبی گیس پلانٹ پر کام کرتی ہے، لیکن اکبر لاشاری کہتے ہیں کہ جنسی تعلیم گاؤں کے لوگوں کا اپنا خیال تھا۔ یہاں کی ایک ٹیچر سارہ بلوچ جن کی پہلی شواہر قبض اسکول کے گرد آلود احاطے میں چمک رہی تھی، نے کہا کہ انہیں امید ہے کہ لڑکیوں کی مدد کرنے سے وہ سمجھ جائیں گی کہ بڑے ہونے کا کیا مطلب ہے۔ انہوں نے کہا ”جب لڑکیوں کے ایام شروع ہوتے ہیں تو وہ خیال کرتی ہیں کہ یہ بہت شرمناک ہے اور وہ اپنے والدین سے بھی اس بارے میں بات نہیں کرتیں، اور سوچتی ہیں کہ وہ بیمار ہو گئی ہیں۔ سارہ بلوچ کچی اینٹوں سے بنے ہوئے تین کلاس رومز کے چھوٹے اسکول میں پڑھاتی ہیں۔ چوتھی جماعت کو کلاس روم سے باہر بیٹھنا پڑتا ہے، اس لیے کہ اس کلاس میں لڑکیوں کی تعداد زیادہ ہے۔ دو لڑکیوں کے لیے بنائی گئی سیٹ پر شخص کر بیٹھی تین لڑکیاں سارہ بلوچ کو توجہ سے سن رہیں تھیں۔ ایک کارڈ پر دکھایا گیا تھا کہ ایک لڑکی ایک بوڑھے شخص کو اپنی نانگ چھونے سے روک رہی ہے۔ دوسرے کارڈ میں لڑکیوں سے کہا گیا تھا کہ اگر ان کا کوئی پیچھا کرتا ہے تو وہ اپنے اندر ہمت پیدا کر کے اپنے والدین یا دوستوں سے اس کے بارے میں بتائیں۔“

کراچی (اسٹاف رپورٹر) معروف مذہبی اسکالر علامہ حافظ ابٹسام الہی ظہیر نے کہا ہے کہ نبی کریم ﷺ کی تعلیمات آفاقی اور عالمگیر نوعیت کی ہیں عالمی امن اور انسانیت کی فلاح کی ضامن ہیں۔ انھوں نے کہا کہ محبت رسول کا تقاضہ ہے کہ انکی عطا کردہ تعلیمات کی روشنی میں اپنی انفرادی اور اجتماعی زندگی کی اصلاح کی جائے۔ معاشرے کے تمام دکھوں کا مداوا نفاذ شریعت میں ہے انھوں نے کہا کہ معاشرے کی تمام خرابیوں، بیماریوں اور مشکلات کا اصل سبب نبی ﷺ کی تعلیمات سے دوری ہے۔ ان خیالات کا اظہار انھوں نے جماعۃ السنہ پاکستان کے تحت ناظم آباد عید گاہ گراؤنڈ میں منعقد شان رسالت ﷺ کانفرنس سے خصوصی خطاب کرتے ہوئے کیا۔ کانفرنس سے جماعۃ السنہ پاکستان کے ناظم سید اشرف قریشی، علامہ طالب الرحمن شاہ زیدی، مولانا عبد الوکیل ناصر، مولانا خلیل الرحمن لکھوی، مولانا عبد الحنان سامرودی، مولانا مقبول احمد کلی، مفتی ادریس سلفی، مولانا حسن سلفی، سید عامر نجیب جسٹس (ر) شفیق محمدی، مولانا کامران سلیم مولانا سلمان احمد، مولانا عبد العظیم حسن زئی اور دیگر علمائے اہلحدیث و قائدین نے بھی خطاب کیا۔ علامہ ابٹسام الہی ظہیر نے مزید کہا کہ جو لوگ دینی تعلیمات کو جدید دور سے ہم آہنگ نہیں سمجھتے انھیں سیرت رسول ﷺ کا درست ادراک نہیں۔ انھوں نے کہا کہ اہلحدیث عوام قرآن و سنت کے نفاذ کے لیے اپنا قائدانہ کردار ادا کریں گے۔ سید اشرف قریشی نے کہا کہ محمد ﷺ کی عظمت و شان انتہائی اعلیٰ اور ارفع ہے اور ہزار سازشوں کے باوجود تاقیامت بلند تر رہے گی۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ نبی رحمت ﷺ سے تعلق اور وابستگی میں اطاعت اور اتباع کا پہلو کامیابی کی ضمانت ہے انہوں نے کہا کہ نبی کریم ﷺ کی سنتوں کے تصور کو مسخ کرنے کی ہر سازش کا مقابلہ سیرت طیبہ کی اتباع کے فہم کو اُجاگر کر کے کیا جائے گا

35 کالج کے پرنسپلز کے ایک وفد نے جماعت کو وزیر تعلیم سے ملاقات کی اور انہیں انٹر مل آٹھ کمیٹی کے حوالے سے جاننے والی باتوں اور نا انصافیوں سے آگاہ کیا اور بتایا کہ ان سے رشوت مانگی جا رہی ہے اور نہ دینے پر ڈپٹی ڈائریکٹر فنانس عبدالغفار بھٹو ریکارڈ اپنے ساتھ لے جاتے ہیں۔ وزیر تعلیم نے کالج پرنسپلز کی شکایات اور مسائل کو سنا اور فوری طور پر انہیں حل کرنے کی یقین دہانی کرائی۔ سندھ پروفیسرز ایسوسی ایشن کے صدر علی مرتضیٰ، کریم ناریجو، فیروز الدین صدیقی، عامر الحق اور دیگر نے اپنے مشترکہ بیان میں کالج کے پرنسپلز کا وزیر تعلیم کے ساتھ ہونے والے اجلاس کا خیر مقدم کیا اور کہا ہے کہ وزیر تعلیم کے ایکشن لینے کے بعد امکان ہے کہ انٹر مل آٹھ کے نام پر رشوت کی وصولی کا سلسلہ رک جائے گا۔ سلا کے مطابق محکمہ تعلیم کرپشن، رشوت ستانی اور اساتذہ کے حقوق کی پابلی کا محکمہ بننا چاہیے اور معمولی سے معمولی کام کے لئے بھی اب رشوت طلب کی جاتی ہے۔ یاد رہے کہ ڈپٹی ڈائریکٹر فنانس عبدالغفار بھٹو کے خلاف ماضی میں بھی کئی مرتبہ شکایات منظر عام پر آئیں ان کی وجہ سے علامہ اقبال کالج میں طویل عرصے سے تدریس نہیں ہوئی۔ دلچسپ امر یہ ہے کہ وہ بالوجہ کے استاد ہیں اور ڈپٹی ڈائریکٹر فنانس کے عہدے پر تعینات ہیں جب کہ عبدالجبار عباسی محکمہ تعلیم میں 14 گریڈ کا ملازم ہے اور 17 گریڈ کے ایس او جنرل کے عہدے پر تعینات ہے تاہم ان دونوں افراد کو محکمہ تعلیم کے اعلیٰ افسران کی آشریاد حاصل ہے۔ جنگ نے اسپیشل سیکرٹری تعلیم (کالج) یعنی صلاح الدین سے محکمہ تعلیم میں انٹر مل آٹھ اور تبادلوں اور تقرریوں کے نام پر رقم لینے کی شکایات پر موقف لینے کی کوشش کی تو یعنی صلاح الدین نے اپنا فون نہیں اٹھایا۔ ایس ایم ایس بھی کیا مگر انہوں نے جواب نہیں دیا

کراچی (اسٹاف رپورٹر) الف اعلان کے زیر اہتمام ایک تقریب میں سندھ کی تمام سیاسی پارٹیوں کی قیادت نے صوبے میں تعلیمی امیر جنسی کے خاتمے کا تاریخی عہد کیا ہے۔ 9 سیاسی جماعتوں کی قیادت نے اپنی اپنی سیاسی جماعت کی اسکولوں کی حالت بہتر کرنے کی حکمت عملی پیش کی اور —۔ سندھ کے بچوں سے وعدہ، پر دستخط کئے، جو کہ تمام سیاسی جماعتوں کا سندھ میں تعلیم کی سرپرستی کا بیٹاق ہے۔ تقریب کے بعد، صوبائی وزیر تعلیم اور پاکستان پیپلز پارٹی کے سینیٹر ہمنشا احمد کھوڑو نے کہا کہ تمام سیاسی جماعتوں کا اپنے سیاسی اختلافات اور نظریات پس پشت ڈال کر تعلیم کے لئے اکٹھا ہونا بہت حوصلہ افزاء بات ہے۔ پہلی دفعہ ایسا ہوا ہے کہ سندھ کی تمام سیاسی جماعتوں نے اس مسئلے کے فوری حل کی ضرورت پر زور دیا ہے۔ یہ عہد ایک ایسے وقت پر ہوا ہے جب سندھ کی تعلیم کی خراب صورتحال خبروں کی زینت بن رہی ہے۔ سپریم کورٹ کے ایک حالیہ فیصلے کے مطابق، پاکستان کے ہر 4 میں سے 3 نان فنکشنل یا گھوسٹ اسکول سندھ میں ہیں۔ صوبے کی تعلیمی صورتحال سے متعلق اعداد و شمار خراب ترین ہیں۔ زیادہ تر سرکاری اسکولوں کی عمارت دگرگوں اور تعلیمی معیار خراب ہے۔ الف اعلان کی پاکستان ڈسٹرکٹ ایجوکیشن رینٹنگ کے مطابق طلباء کے سکینے کے حوالے سے بدترین اعداد و شمار سندھ کے اسکولوں کے ہیں۔ اس رینٹنگ میں سندھ کا کوئی بھی ضلع پہلے 75 اضلاع میں نہیں ہے جبکہ شہری اضلاع میں بھی کراچی 56 نمبر پر ہے، سندھ اسمبلی میں قانون سازوں نے حکومت پر زور دیا ہے کہ وہ سندھ میں تعلیمی امیر جنسی نافذ کرے۔ سیاسی جماعتوں کے رہنماؤں نے الف اعلان کی اس کاوش کو سراہتے ہوئے اس بات کا عزم کیا کہ وہ سندھ میں تعلیم کی بہتری کے لیے وزیر تعلیم کے شانہ بشانہ کھڑے ہوں گے

ہے۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ حکومت خود کو ان مسائل سے بری الزمہ قرار نہیں دے سکتی بلکہ ایسے واقعات کی اعلیٰ پیمانے پر تحقیقات ہونی چاہیے تاکہ ملوث افراد کو قرار واقعی سزا دی جائے۔ اس موقع پر بحث میں حصہ لیتے ہوئے سینئر صوبائی وزیر سراج الحق نے ایوان کو بتایا کہ اسمبلی رولز 71(ب) کے تحت جب تک کسی رکن کے پاس ثبوت نہ ہو اس وقت تک کسی تحریک التوا کو قائمہ کمیٹی کو نہیں بھیجا جاسکتا۔ انہوں نے بحث سمیٹتے ہوئے کہا کہ ملک میں مخلوط تعلیم سے کئی قسم کے مسائل جنم لے رہے ہیں۔ انہوں نے کہا کہ ان کی خواہش ہے کہ لڑکیوں کے لیے علیحدہ تعلیم کے ساتھ ساتھ خواتین اراکین اسمبلی کے لیے بھی علیحدہ اسمبلی ہو تاکہ وہاں وہ ہر مسئلے پر کھل کر اظہار خیال کر سکیں۔ بعد میں ڈپٹی سپیکر نے پشاور یونیورسٹی میں طالبہ کو ہراساں کرنے کی تحقیقات کے لیے خصوصی کمیٹی تشکیل دی جس میں وزیر اعلیٰ کے مشیر مشتاق غنی، صوبائی وزیر اطلاعات شاہ فرمان، خواتین اراکین اسمبلی گلہت اور کرنی، انیسہ زیب، عظمیٰ خان، ثوبیہ شاہد اور راشدہ رفعت شامل ہیں
